Pitkin, Sally

Occupation Company director, Lawyer, Solicitor

Summary

Dr Sally Pitkin is a Company Director and Lawyer with thirty years' corporate experience. Her current portfolio of board roles include ASX 200 companies, Federal Government owned business enterprises, private companies, regulatory bodies and non-profit organizations. Sally is the President of the Queensland Division of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. She holds a Doctorate in the field of governance, and is an Adjunct Professor with the UQ Business School and a Fellow of Bond University. Her skills in corporate governance, risk management, strategy and business planning, organizational culture and stakeholder engagement have been developed from her legal background, eighteen years' experience as a non-executive director and board member, and doctoral research.

In January 2021, Sally Pitkin was awarded an AO for distinguished service to business, to corporate governance standards and performance, to the arts, and to the advancement of women.
