

The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE6140

O'Collins, Maev

Occupation Academic, Social worker

Summary

Maev O'Collins received a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Melbourne, followed by a Doctorate of Social Work from Columbia University, New York. She taught social work and sociology at the University of Papua New Guinea and was appointed Professor of the Department of Anthropology and Sociology in 1979.

Maev was awarded an MBE in the Papua New Guinea honours list in 1987. At her retirement in 1989, she received the title of Emeritus Professor. Maev is currently an Honorary Visiting Fellow in the Department of Political and Social Change at the Australian National University.

Archival resources

Australian National University Archives

Maev O'Collins research papers

National Library of Australia, Manuscript Collection

Papers of Maev O'Collins relating to Patrick McMahon Glynn, 1869-2001

Author Details

ANU Archives

Created 23 January 2018

Last modified 23 January 2018