Lespar Library of Women's Liberation

(1979 -)

Born 1 January, 1979, Darlington Western Australia Australia

Summary

After attempts to establish a lending library at the Women's Centre Action Group and Camp Books failed, Lespar Library of Women's Liberation moved to purpose built facilities on Karin Hoffmann's Darlington property. It operated on an open by appointment basis for twelve years. A key objective was to provide resources and facilities for women centred research. The library also acted as a repository, eventually housing the archives of various women's organizations and individuals on a permanent basis.
