

The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE0405

Hodgson, Agnes

Occupation Community worker

Summary

Agnes Hodgson was superintendent of the Australian Women's Land Army in Tasmania.

In 1940 she became the organising secretary when the Tasmanian government provided a grant to help establish the Agricultural Department's research farm at Cressy as a training farm for land girls.

Published resources

Edited Book

Thanks girls and goodbye : the story of the Australian Women's Land Army 1942-45, Hardisty, Sue (ed.), 1990

Resource

Trove, National Library of Australia, 2009

Archival resources

Australian War Memorial, Research Centre
Women's Land Army, Launceston, Tasmania

Author Details

Anne Heywood

Created 3 December 2002
Last modified 29 April 2009